SAS Security / Crime Research UK Scam – Information from North Yorkshire Police

There has been an increase in the number of older people receiving unsolicited telephone calls from a company called SAS Fire & Security or Crime Research UK offering the installation of security systems.

They often claim to be either:

- from a company fitting security systems linked to the local police
- offering 4 houses in the road a free security system
- from the National Crime Prevention Unit and giving away 4 free alarms in the area
- from SAS and working in conjunction with the local police
- offering monitoring alarm systems with a guaranteed response from the police

Whilst the alarms are free or a nominal cost of £1, the ongoing maintenance costs are high and there is a cancellation fee. The company call the local police service and request an incident/log number to give the impression that they are authorised by the police to call.

This company is being investigated by Scambusters and North Lanarkshire Trading Standards Services obtained an injunction from Edinburgh County Court under Section 217 of the Enterprise Act 2002. The injunction bans the company from using approval of any authorised body including the Police, Government or Local Authority, or from describing the alarm as 'free' or 'gratis', or engaging in aggressive commercial practice. This injunction is also enforceable in England.

If you receive any calls from Crime Research UK or SAS Fire & Security you are requested to report these directly to Consumer Direct on 08454 040506.

It is recommended that you register with the Telephone Preference Service to reduce cold calls.

Please take note of the information and warn others as you feel appropriate.*

Stolen - Catalytic Converters – Horsted Keynes

Between 15th and 16th July a Catalytic converter was stolen from a 4x4 at Horsted Keynes. A attempt was also made to remove the exhaust on a van over the same period. These thefts follow similar incidents in the Ardingly area over the past month.

Thefts of Catalytic converters are becoming increasingly popular as the materials used in their construction have significant scrap value. There has also been a number of selected parts removed from vehicles which has included prop shafts, and windscreens.

Due to high prices, fuel thefts are also becoming more frequent, especially diesel. It is anticipated that heating oil will be targeted towards the end of summer and those who use heating oil can contact their local officer to seek crime prevention advice.

If you have information on these or other crimes, or need crime prevention advice contact Sussex Police on 0845 607999 or your Neighbourhood Policing Team via the Sussex police website (Local policing).

Burglary at Estate Office – Cinder Hill, Horsted Keynes

Large safe stolen in the early hours of Monday 12th July. Safe has been recovered, however this crime would have required a number of offenders and possibly a sizable vehicle which would have been out of place at the time of the offence.

An increasing number of outbuildings are used as offices and workshops in the rural community and vulnerable to burglary, however inexpensive shed alarms and other security devices are available at minimal cost.

If you have any information about this or any other crime, then contact Sussex Police on 0845 6070999 and quote serial 251 12/07/10. If you require advice on crime prevention then you should contact your local Neighbourhood Constable via the non emergency police contact number or via the Sussex Police web site.
