Information and Advice

Please note.

In previous bulletins it has been mentioned that not every police force or Horsewatch scheme submits equine crime information or reports for inclusion on this bulletin. This is not because there is no crime but that no one can be bothered to pass on information.

I was trawling the Horsewatch and police web sites on the UK Horsewatch Alliance site the other day and discovered many equine crime related matters. It is worth spending time researching those sites to find out what is going on around the country.

This bulletin is to provide a service and relies on contributions from equine groups, police or community around the country.

Kindly brought to our attention by Sussex Horsewatch

This message was circulated by Sussex Horsewatch and is repeated as received. For all of you who don't wear the appropriate headgear let this be a warning!

Earlier today I received a message from one of our members, she apologised for not having been in touch and informed me that she had been involved in a horrific riding accident last December. Tonight I managed to speak to her on the telephone. She is a very competent rider with many years riding experience. She told me that she was exercising her horse and was just warming it up when suddenly it put its head down and gave a buck. This sent our member flying over its head. It is believed that whilst going over the head the horse brought it up catching her and propelling her higher into the air. The next thing our member remembers is heading head first towards the ground hitting her head.

The upshot is she has broken bones in her neck and back and as you can imagine upon hitting the ground the body halted rapidly but the internal organs did not and were thrown all over the place causing much internal bruising.

Fortunately she is slowly recovering but is still suffering with memory loss, feels very weak and tiredness. She has asked that I inform you that she is totally convinced that if she had not been wearing a riding hat she would have died, and asks that I plead with you all never ever ride your horse/pony without a proper fitting up-to-date approved riding hat.

Hare Coursing

Over the past few weeks, Police have seen an increase in hare coursing incidents across the country and have stepped up their response accordingly, using a range of different tactics to catch and convict offenders. Because of this increase, Police want to raise awareness of this crime to the whole community, while reminding everyone to remain vigilant and report all suspicious activities. To help Police catch the culprits, it is important that incidents are reported to Police immediately so that officers can get to the scene as soon as possible.

You can help Police further by being aware of the following guidelines:

- Call 101 to report any suspicious activities or movement of vehicles. No-one knows the countryside better than residents of rural communities. You are in the best place to notice unfamiliar people, vehicles and suspicious activities. Information such as the make and direction of travel of vehicles can be extremely valuable.

- If people are actively hare coursing on your land, immediately dial 999 and ask for the police. Ideally take note of vehicle makes, colours, registration numbers, times and specific locations.
 - Under no circumstances approach the offenders or confront them. Observe the activities from a safe distance, even a neighbouring field, rather than engaging directly with suspected coursers.
 - Keep the Constabulary informed of further movement and direction, if the suspects have moved on.

Theft of lights from Land Rovers

Please note the crime details as circulated from North Yorkshire and Sussex. It appears that Land Rovers are being targeted in at least two counties. Given the distance between the two counties it is difficult to say these crimes are connected. However, thieves do travel and, as with metal thefts, if thieves know that there is a market for certain goods then that niche of crime will be repeated nationally. As always if your vehicle has been tampered with especially a Land Rover, given the information received, report the occurrence to the police.

Tack theft - October 2011

Your attention is drawn to this historical theft report from Norfolk! The theft occurred in October 2011 and apparently has just been reported to the police. Some of the items are recognisable. Given the time that has elapsed certain items may have been sold and are being used by unsuspecting persons. Have you in the last twelve months bought any of the items listed below or items sufficiently similar to make you wonder the authenticity of what you have purchased? If so, are you sufficiently honest to come forward to tell the police? If you have any information please contact Norfolk Police. Details are as follows: A quantity of western tack was stolen from Emneth on or around 31 October 2011 but only just brought to our attention.

Stolen Trailers and Carriages

Stolen Wessex Horse Trailer

Stolen

Reference number RMS 44130071905

Overnight of the 24/25 February 2013 stolen from a rural location in the Liphook area

Serial number .CD87/001

Year of manufacture = 2005

"Clubman" model.

A Wessex trailer will always be a Wessex trailer. If you are looking to buy one remember that this one has been stolen!!

In fact, any trailer you may consider buying could potentially be a stolen trailer. Remember to check to trailer thoroughly. Serial numbers and plates can be altered and replacements made. You, the potential buyer, are best placed to discover what may be a stolen trailer. If you have any doubts as the authenticity of a trailer or horse box or the seller contact the police to inform them of your concerns/suspicions.

Don't pay in cash! Pay by cheque. This way there is an audit trail to follow if your newly bought 2nd hand trailer turns out to be stolen!!

Always inspect the trailer and make the purchase at the seller's home address or other place which can be checked out.

Last year Hampshire had 15 horse trailers stolen, none of which has been recovered! 8 of the trailers were stolen on the eastern side of the county bordering Sussex, in an area from Emsworth up to Liphook.

Photographs of the stolen trailer are below:-

Theft of saddles

Generally in the county reported crime is low. Two saddles were reported stolen from Liphook area overnight 25/26 February 2013.

Am I bothered!!

At a recent event in the New Forest 20 horse owners accepted an offer to have their saddles post coded when they returned two weeks later for a follow up meeting. Horsewatch members attended expecting at least 20 saddles to be presented for post coding. Sadly only two individuals brought their saddles along. Two is better than none however it is a sad indictment that apathy is still about. One of the Horsewatch members who attended to post code travelled 109 miles and spent 3 hours travelling to help others!!!!
