MERRY CHRISTMAS & HAPPY NEW YEAR

Remember Horsewatch schemes are in place to promote crime prevention. Crime Prevention covers a wide range of subjects.

You all know about the Don't Drink and Drive message.

We'll read the next Don't message.

A message for all vehicle drivers and passengers.

Do you use a hand held device to communicate whilst driving?

If you are in the habit of doing so stop before it is too late!

Using a mobile phone to receive or make calls or text does not make you invisible, others can see you!!

By driving and using a hand held device you are a liability to other road users and a potential killer.

If you are a passenger and the driver uses a hand held device tell them to stop, it could be your life that gets extinguished!

Please read the article below.

It was taken from the Daily Telegraph dated Friday 14th December 2012

After reading the article decide if whilst driving a motor vehicle making/receiving a phone call, reading/sending that text is worth it.....

“No text is so urgent it should cost a life”, judge tells killer driver

A young woman driver who caused a fatal crash while texting at the wheel has been jailed by a judge who said that the case should send a “terrible warning”.

Nikita Ainley, then 18, was driving to work at a supermarket in her Renault Clio when she ploughed into a Fiat Panda, the court heard.

Mary Rutherford, 68, was in the back seat of the other car, returning from a shopping trip with friends. The crash, in a country lane between Hull and Withernsea, East Yorkshire, resulted in a “scene of devastation”, Judge Stephen Ashurst, the Recorder of York, told the city’s crown court.

Ainley initially denied that she had been texting on her Blackberry at the time. She said she had pulled over in order to exchanged messages with a friend about a night out.

Inquiries by Humberside Police established that the last of two messages she sent was transmitted only 48 seconds before a witness to the crash dialled 999.

The judge told Ainley: “No message is so urgent that it requires someone to lose their life as a result of it”. He added: “This case ought really to stand as a terrible warning as to the dangers of that kind of obviously unlawful activity”.

Ainley, now 20, of Roos, East Yorkshire, described as a “normal young woman”, admitted causing death by dangerous driving. She was sent to a young offenders’ institution for three and a half years, banned from driving for five years and ordered to take an extended test if she wants to drive again.

The court heard that Mrs Rutherford had been recovering from cancer. She left two daughters and three grandchildren.

Looking For.....

Hampshire Horsewatch is trying to trace a lady called A.Bevan on behalf of Littlewick Green Show, Maidenhead.

She was formerly a resident of an address in Mannock Way, Woodley in Berkshire, This was in 2010. She may still be in the area or equally have moved away.

A Bevan was fortunate to come first in a Class in the 2009 Show. She was presented with a cup which she was entitled to retain for 12 months and then return it to the Show committee. Sadly the cup was not returned and is still outstanding.

The committee would love have the cup returned as it is their property and its absence deprives other competitors being placed first from enjoying the pleasure of receiving the cup.

If anyone can assist with locating A. Bevan please call David Collings, Hampshire Horsewatch on 07867 972868 followed. The offenders ran from their vehicles into a field where they shone bright white lights at the helicopter and released their dogs that attacked livestock, killing a sheep and goat. The offenders have been arrested on suspicion of the theft of a motor vehicle, endangering the safety of an aircraft and criminal damage.

Good Advice & Common Sense supplied by Sussex Horse Watch Through Sussex Police – Applicable to Everyone Everywhere

Stay safe in icy conditions – Drivers are being reminded to stay safe on the roads as the weather becomes colder.

Sussex Police are encouraging drivers to think about adapting their driving to meet the weather conditions of the road and give more time for a slower journey.

Inspector Phil Duffy from the Road Policing Unit said:-

“Make sure you have enough fuel for your journey and extra in case you get stuck, check your fluid levels, electrical functions such as lights, indicators, battery and that your tyres are in a good condition with plenty of tread. Screen wash should also be kept topped up as road spray quickly reduces your visibility.

Please ensure that your mobile phone has sufficient charge and you are well prepared, taking food and warm drinks and clothing during long journeys.

Before setting off drivers should make sure that mirrors and all windows and lights are clear from ice, frost or condensation. On dark, cold mornings it is all too easy to jump in your car and drive off, but it is important that you have a good view of the road all around you from the start.

Remember stopping distances increase considerably and keep your speed appropriate to the conditions. The best advice for slippery conditions is to keep things smooth and avoid sudden turning, braking or acceleration”.

Another useful driving suggestion – when driving behind another vehicle remember the “2 second rule”. What is that I hear you say ----- simply put it means you should keep a minimum of at least a two second gap in time between you and the car in front of you. As the car in front of you passes a fixed mark eg; a letter box say to yourself “only a fool breaks the two second rule”. If you pass the letter box before you have finished the “only a fool breaks the two second rule” saying, then you are too close to the car in front. You should make the gap between you and the car greater so that you are a safe distance behind.

Rug Theft Is On The Increase

Individuals are requesting information of how to mark rugs. Please see below to learn what to do.

Nicki Whittaker from the NFU Mutual Insurance has commented that rugs are always a target at this time of year and she recommends marking them, preferably with your post code, as this can decrease the likelihood of them being stolen. Also if they are marked then the thief is likely to dump them making it more likely that you will get them back.

Horsewatch Alliance

A Guide to Marking Your Rugs

Marking your rugs will help prevent their theft, help safe guard your horse and if they are lost can stop their resale. It will also enable someone to return them to you should they be found. Even though you think it is just an old summer sheet or turnout, if it's stolen your loss is the price of a replacement which can easily be hundreds of pounds. Multiply this by all the rugs you keep at the yard and a theft can be a very expensive event to cope with.

The majority of rug theft occurs during autumn and early winter when the weather becomes colder. Some people see your rug as a quick solution to their cold horse, especially if you have just bought a nice new one. Others see the ready market in used rugs as a quick profit at your expense. Either way you can come back to a cold wet animal only to find your insurance does not cover rugs.

How to mark them

There are several ways to mark your rugs depending on the material they are made from. For light coloured indoor fabrics a black permanent marker pen is a quick solution. Turnouts and thick quilted rugs can have your home postcode painted on. A neat way for marking by hand is to draw around a stencil with a ball point pen and just fill in the letters afterwards.

Iron-on lettering can be made from T shirt transfer sheets sold in stationers. Use the dark material type so you can match or contrast the rug colour. A good bright colour combination will make the postcode easy to see even when the rug is muddy. You can also add a freeze mark to show the horse is protected that way. Be sure to test that the rug will stand the hot iron needed to seal the transfer to the material, follow the maker's instructions carefully and only print with an inkjet (a laser printer will melt the transfer). Three postcodes will fit across an A4 sheet using PowerPoint or Word to set them out in your colours.

Landrover Security Device - "safe t pedal" – From Sussex Horse Watch

One of our members has put me in touch with a company who manufacture a security device that makes it impossible to drive off any right hand drive manual gear boxed Landrover. The link will show the services page of their website, this shows you the product and prices.

<http://shirefabrications.com/services> Below are some facts given to me by the makers.

Just a few statistics on the "safe t pedal", we designed the "safe t pedal" around a vehicle we built in 2009 as there was very limited security available, with the "safe t pedal" being designed for my own vehicle there was no corners cut and quality materials were used, we realised there may be a market for the product and was quick to patent it. We have since sold around 2500 in 3 years and we have had no reported thefts of vehicles whilst fitted. With ourselves being very keen Landrover fanatics we are obviously very pleased with the outcome and I'm sure all our customers are just as pleased as we are that they still have theirs!

Now the good news – I have arranged with the company a £10 discount to All Horse Watch Members across the UK. They are willing to offer a £10 refund to any Horse Watch member when leaving a note in the PayPal Check Out section saying "Horse Watch Sussex (or whichever Watch you belong to, Hampshire, Hertfordshire etc)" so that the manufacturers can see which Watchers work best. They will then refund £10 back into your PayPal account.

Welcome To Shirefabrications

Pony Missing On Loan - Update

On 22nd Nov a circulation was sent out from Sussex Horse Watch reference a 12hh Section B Welsh Pony named "Hollyoak Jasmine", known as Polly, who had gone missing on loan with a lady on a farm in Scaynes Hill (near Haywards Heath). Well the great news is that Polly has now been found. It would appear that a loanee had sold Polly on to an unsuspecting family.

As said many times previously, please ensure that no matter how well you know someone or not, always without fail get the loanee to sign a loan agreement. Horse Watch schemes can suggest how to locate loan agreement templates to use and/or alter to suit individual requirements. BHS also has a good template to use.

Sussex Horse Watch is unable to give any further details as a crime has been committed and a criminal investigation is being undertaken.

Theft of Rugs Nationally

In the recent UK Horse Watch Alliance bulletin, Horse Watches from other counties have reported many rug thefts. Thankfully this trend hasn't hit Suffolk, with a few thefts of rugs being reported in the last couple of months. Please take a few steps to ensure your horse stays cosy over the winter

Mark your rug with your postcode, name or horse's freemark ID – rugs can be marked with paint, indelible marker pen or t-shirt iron on transfers. See the info sheet

Don't think that because your rug is old and tatty that it won't be stolen – thieves have been known to steal an old rug knowing that the owner will probably buy a new one and then the thief promptly returns to steal the new one!

Don't be tempted to leave rugs hanging on the paddock gate or stable door on milder days, ready to rug up at night. Lock unworn rugs away in your tack room or even better take them home.
